

Edward Monroe-Jones

USSVI Holland Club and Bremerton Base Life Member
Bio

Edward Monroe-Jones received a bachelor's degree from Occidental College, a master's degree from Los Angeles State University and a doctorate in industrial psychology from the University of Southern California.

He served in the United States Naval Reserve for twenty years both as an enlisted person and as an officer, qualifying as an enlisted man on Sterlet and as an officer on Sirago. The entire service –was in submarines.

He currently is the director of the Submarine Research Center on the submarine base at Bangor, Washington. In this capacity he serves the public by answering questions about submarine history which are answered in publications, articles in the American Submariner magazine and on the internet through monthly bulletins posted to the web-site <http://www.submarineresearch.com>. He holds the American Submariner Silver Stylus award for best writing.

The following are his books with dates of publication:

Techniques of Retrieval Bargaining in the Public Sector - Irvine Press and California Department of Printing, Sacramento 1983.

Before I Sleep, (fiction) Sidgwick and Jackson (MacMillan), London, 1991

Of Wives and Submarines, (fiction). Submarine Research Center, Bangor 2004

Submarine Cuisine. Submarine Research Center, Bangor 2005

Steep Angles and Deep Dives. Submarine Research Center, Bangor 2005

Undersea Encounters. Submarine Research Center, Bangor, 2006

Submarine Escape and Rescue. United States Submarine Veterans Inc., 2007

Most books and publications can be found on the internet by entering the author's full name, Edward Monroe-Jones.